Her only jewels were a circular brooch of diamonds, a gift of the bridegroom, and a diamond star that belonged to her grandmother, the late Mrs. Huntington. The bridal bouquet was a sheaf of white bouverfile.

Miss Mary Evelyn Scott, the maid of honor, were a gown of certise fulle over taffeta of the same shade, with a bodies of silver that had long butterfly sleeves of the tulls. She wore also a turban of tulle to correspond, with a butterfly bow at the back. She carried a bouquet of pale blue delphinium.

The bridal attendants, Mrs. John M. P. Thatcher, the Misses Sarah E. Larkin, siter of the bridegroom: Elisabeth L. Kirlin, Frederika Peterson, Olive A. Tripp and Getrtude N. Welling, wore costumes made like that of the maid of henor, of pale blue shades, with hats to correspond, and they carried bouquets of pale blue delphinium.

The best man was Ernest R. Tilton, Jr., cousin of the bridegroom, and the waster were Henry Bahnesen, Mortis McKim Pryor, Capt. Gaillard F. Ravenel, Lieut. John Alden Cook, Capt. John Marsh and Frank M. Watrous, As the bridegroom is in active service he was in uniform, as were most of the ushers.

Leonard Cox. at every hour of the day there came en-couragement from the company's officers. It would have been hard to

We offer our most fervent appreciation to all those who assisted in making the event so notable. That is as far as we can go, but over in France, just back of the trench lines, there are thousands of men in khaki who will give their thanks to those who provided them with such a generous supply of smokes. such a generous supply of smokes.

Money Rolling In.

In a chain of stores that cover such a wide stretch of territory and cater to such a diversified patronage it was impossible last night to gain any accurate appraisal of the gross proceeds. Of the tremenduous sum the fund will receive 5 per cent. When we get the lery section, where he was commissioned, with orders to report next Tuesday at Wrightstown, N. J. If the entire output is sold, and there is no reason why it should not be, it will mean an addition of $3,750 to a button in your lapel or bring one home to your children or friends.

From now until the war ceases we will have the cooperation of both the United and the Schulte stores. When you buy with either of these corpora-tions don't fail to drop your coupons in the boxes you will find there. We will get $10,000 for the first $50,000 certifcates dropped in the United boxes, and the Schulte stores will redeem their coupons at two cents each in tobacco Don't leave the city next week! If you of the tremenduous sum the fund will receive 5 per cent. When we get the figures, in a day or so, we will reduce it to terms of smokes just to give an idea of how tangible has been the ald given through the United Cigar Stores.

And right on the heals of this there came another munificent offer from D. A. Schulte, president of the Schulte Cigar Stores. But—and this 'but' does not preface the usual disappointment—there will be an entertainment de lugs in addition to Cigar Stores. Ever since the early days of the fund we have been getting the greatest measure of help from these stores. Their boxes have been open for the reception of coupons and certificates, and tobacco orders received at the stores have gained a thirty cent premium on the dollar through the generosity of Mr. Schulte. The figures printed below tell that we have gathered $2,465,10 from this source alone.

As if this was not enough the Schulte there will be the Dolly Sisters, now in 116 stores, which extend from here to Chicago, little lapel buttons bearing the matienal colors. Every patrict—and there will be others who will be an manifestation of loyalty such as this nounced in due time. The New York.

woman who adorns the corner of this story? That is Miss Rita Gould, who has done valiantly by the Sun Fund. has done valiantly by the Sun Fund. Last week on two successive nights Miss Gould went to Castles-by-the-Sea at Long Beach to sing for the soldiers fund. To-night she will be at Woodmansten Inn with a group of other artists, including Mile. Doree, Drake Warner and Al Plantodosi, who will sing his latest composition, "Send Me Away With a Smile." Joseph Pani, who is proprietor of both the Castles and the Inn, expects his Westchester carnival to far exceed the success of that at the seashore, where close to $400 was at the seashore, where close to $400 was realised. It will well repay you to take a run to the attractive inn. realized. It will well repay you to take a run to the attractive inn.

Suppose you live on Long Island or thereabout. There can be no better spent evening than at the entertainment which is to be given to-night at the Columbia Club, Whitestone, by Frank Tinney, James J. Corbett, Vivienne Segai, Ernest Ball and Maude Lambert, Adelaide and Hughes and others of first importance. The entertainment is to be given under the auspices of the officers and crew of the U. S. S. Wasp, U. S. S. Payche and naval base No. 7. The admission will be only 50 cents and dancing will follow the show.

Still they come, these friends of the men in France who are enlisting with Tax Sun Tobacco Fund. Here is a telegram received last night:

"The guests of the Westport Inn, at Westport, N. Y., will give an auction bridge party Friday night for the benefit of Tax Sun Tobacco Fund. There will be seventeen tables, in charge of Mrs. Samuel R. Frodasco, Mrs. Dudley Field Maione, Mrs. James A. O'Gorman and Mrs. Benjamin Harrison."

Outpouring Is General.

That's all it said. The wonderful thing about this, as about every other factor that contributes to the fund, is that it came entirely unsolicited. So far as we know there never has been Don't leave the city next week! If you do you are going to miss a series of entertainments at Marcus Loew's New York Theatre and Roof such as it will never be your good fortune to witness again. In the first place there will be seven days of the best motion picture plays in the market. Mr. Loew, whose judgment has been the sole reason for his success in this field, has given extra care to the selection of the programme. It will include the finest artists in the cinema field.

But—and this 'but' does not preface the usual disappointment—there will be appropriately and the finest artists and disappointment—there will be appropriately fine the officers and men of the Seventh Regiment.
